Dear Mr. McLeod:

Mr Barlow has shown me your note of Yesterday.

In pursuance of the action of the Board on Monday, Mr McGuire and myself called upon Mr Barlow Yesterday to see whether any written evidence of the authenticity of the ~~Audubon~~ picture could be furnished, or any other evidence in that direction than that borne on its face. Being told by Mr Barlow that it would be impossible to produce any, and feeling that something more would be required buried or expected by the Board, we concluded to let the matter drop, and told Mr Barlow verbally that he could send for the picture.

Under the circumstances, you were quite right in not delivering it. The fault was ours, - in not giving Mr Barlow a written order, and advising you of our action. I regret that my neglect has put both him and you to unnecessary trouble; but if you will now deliver the picture as requested it will be all right, - so far as I know at least.

In Haste Truly Yours

Dr MacLeod

Dear Sir

We write to state that we are very sorry that there should have bin a misunderstanding in regard to the work of dorating the Corcoran Gallery of Art. Our estimate for the work was very low, and if we had made drawings for the four picture galleries, you would have seen that what we proposed to do, was at a very reasonable figure; we made it so thinking we would have the exention of the entire work. The drawings where made at your reguest at a time when it was our busy season at a cost to us of some Seventy five dollars. You must not feel surprised that we should have some feeling in regard to this matter, especially, as we have waited patiently for one year to hear from you and then to be informed that part of the work was exented by another artist. Thinking an explanation may set matters right and hoping it may not give offence, We remain,

Yours Respectfully
V. G. Stiepevich & Co.

W. W. Macleod—
Curator—Corcoran Art Gallery.

Your favor of the 10th inst received to day—
The Picture referred to is called,
"St Helen Taking Constantine to Heaven."
I purchased it in Rome as an original Liepolo—
It has been on exhibition at the Metropolitan Art Museum of this City from the date of its opening, and has attracted much attention—but it is only

Suitable for a Public Gallery.
Artists have appraised it at $3000=00 (Three Thousand dollars), but I would respectfully submit the price to the Art Committee.

The Picture is to be seen at O'Brien's = 3rd Avenue &
12th Street.

Thanking you for the notice
you have given my request and hoping to hear again.

I am respectfully

Mrs L. S. Tilden.
